Fans' group Spirit of Shankly want Anfield listed in new planning law

Report by Holly Rummens

SUPPORTERS could take ownership of Anfield football stadium if new proposals from Liverpool supporters' union Spirit of Shankly are given the go ahead.

They have made an application for the ground to become an Asset of Community Value, which means the stadium would be prevented from being sold without supporters having an opportunity to purchase it.

Further to this, the Spirit of Shankly would be automatically notified if any movements to sell the stadium or the surrounding areas come into place.

This application does not act as a guarantee that the Spirit of Shankly would automatically purchase the stadium, it just ensures that they would be told about the plans before it goes public and would be given the opportunity to bid if they wish to.

Eric Pickles MP, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, commented on the news directly to the supporters union saying: "Football stadiums are not only the heart and soul of every team, they are rooted in and loved by the neighbourhoods that surround them."

"Thanks to the new rights we've created, today football fans are exercising their community right to keep the beautiful game at their team's spiritual home by protecting their stadium's future."

The application is being made under the Community Right to Bid which is part of the Localism Act 2011. If valued land, buildings or even football stadiums go for sale the local community has a fairer chance to save them.

If Anfield is accepted as an Asset of Community Value then Liverpool City Council must be notified by Liverpool Football Club if they have any intention to sell the stadium.

Paul Martin, spokesperson for Spirit of Shankly, said: "Safeguarding the long term future of the club is vitally important to us. This application provides us with an opportunity to influence any future sale of the club by being part of that process."

"It also ties in with the union belief that football clubs are of vital importance to their local community and are best protected in the hands of their supporters."

He added: "Anfield matters to so many people, whether that be those who attend football matches, those who work there or those who live within close proximity. Given that any sale of the stadium would feature as part of the sale of the football club, it would provide us with a window of opportunity to put together a suitable bid for the stadium."

Spirit of Shankly will be informed if their application is successful in around eight weeks time. holly.rummens@champnews.com

Everton star shows off his skills at new homes development

Report by
Holly Rummens

EVERTON star, Steven Pienaar, hosted an exclusive event for pupils of Crosby High School at Bellway Homes' new Hawthorn Park development on South Parade.

The midfielder participated in a range of interactive football-related games with 10 of the pupils from the school last Thursday.

Pienaar showed off his top soccer skills and taught the pupils a few of his own football tricks he uses on the pitch, making it an enjoyable day for all the children who took part.

Afterwards, the Everton player took part in signing autographs for all the children and they each had their own photograph taken with the midfielder to keep as a memory of the day.

Jenny Bell, sales director designate at Bellway Homes, comments:

Everton star Steven Pienaar at Hawthorn Park

"Pienaar's visit to Hawthorn Park was a very special day for the children of Crosby High School. The pupils enjoyed the exclusive event immensely with Pienaar taking part in a number of football games. Working with Everton FC and Crosby High School was a real pleasure."

Everton player, Steven

Pienaar said: "The children seemed to really enjoy taking part in the games so I'm glad that we have put a smile on so many faces. It's also been great to have a look around the show homes here at Hawthorn Park, they are very beautiful."

To arrange a viewing of the show homes, call 0151 928 8671.

Sky’s the limit for Jamie!

Report by David Raven

JAMIE Carragher is set to join the Sky Sports punditry team for the 2013/14 season. The 35-year-old, who will retire from Liverpool Football Club at the end of the current campaign, will team up with former Anfield stars Jamie Redknapp and Graeme Souness, and former Manchester United full-back Gary Neville, to provide expert analysis as part of the broadcaster’s football coverage next season. Carragher, who grew up in Bootle but now lives in Blundellsands, has made more than 730 appearances during his career at Liverpool. He had been offered a number of punditry jobs when he retires but the former England defender said: “I watch Sky Sports all the time and I’m a huge fan. I can’t wait to be part of their coverage and work with the best in the business. “What Sky has done for football for over 20 years is incredible and I’m thrilled to be part of their exciting plans for next season. “I don’t think there could be a better move for me to retire from one of the world’s best football clubs and then join one of the world’s best broadcasters.” Barney Francis, managing director of Sky Sports, added: “Jamie has everything you want in an expert analyst; opinions, experience and incredible knowledge. “He’s hugely respected throughout the game and I know his immense insight on today’s players, teams and tactics will make our football coverage even better. “He joins us fresh from the changing room of one of the world’s biggest clubs and will be part of our incredible line-up of football experts, who between them boast 25 League titles, 10 European trophies and more than 700 international caps.”

Carra set to join TV experts panel

Retail partner sought for Breck Road post office

BRECK Road is at risk of losing its Crown Post Office. Bosses announced yesterday that retailers, whether they be local or national, are being offered the chance to take over the service from Breck Road in order to save its future. The branch is one of 70 Crown Post Offices that are seeking retail partners to help secure it their future. Crown branches, of which there are currently 370 across the UK, are directly managed by the Post Office and based in high streets and city centres across the UK. Kevin Gilliland, network and sales director at the Post Office, said: “We must change the way the branch operates to ensure long-term viability and to maintain services for people across the area. “We already have more than 10,000 branches which operate through franchises and agreements with retailers so we know this model works.

“We welcome approaches from potential retail partners who want to work with us to provide our customers with high levels of customer service and easy access to Post Office products from a modern retail space.” The decision to offer crown branches to retailers is a result of the network losing £40 million a year of public money. “Partnering 70 branches with retailers and investing £70 million in 300 Crown branches is the best way to keep our branches on high streets and city centres across the UK”, added Kevin. If a suitable retailer is found then a six-week public consultation will be carried out before any move takes place. The intention is that, subject to the public consultation, the Breck Road branch will be transferred to a third-party retail operator before April 2015.

Police launch probe after guns and ammo find

Report by Holly Rummens

MERSEYSIDE Police have launched an investigation after two firearms and ammunition were found by police community support officers in Kirkdale. Superintendent Mark Wiggins from Liverpool North command team, said: “This was excellent work by dedicated neighbourhood officers who were vigilant enough to spot a hidden weapon during the course of their patrols. “A further weapon – a shotgun – was discovered at the same site following a wider search, along with shotgun ammunition. The scene was secured and specialist Matrix officers carried out a further search which led to the discovery of a shotgun and ammunition. The search is continuing around the wasteland and the two weapons are now being forensically examined. “These seizures represent a significant blow to the criminals who had been hiding them to use on our streets and show how hard officers in Merseyside Police are working alongside the community to try and tackle the issue of gun crime and make neighbourhoods safer.” Anyone with information about where guns are being stored or the criminals who use them is urged to the call the Matrix Unit on 0151 777 5699 or leave information anonymously with Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Cannabis farm discovered

MERSEYSIDE Police have discovered a substantial amount of cannabis. Specialist Matrix officers executed a misuse of drugs warrant at a property on Bankhall Street, Kirkdale, shortly after 3pm on Monday, April 29 after a strong smell of the drug had alerted colleagues. Following a search of the two-storey warehouse, a cannabis ‘farm’, consisting of about 1,000 plants, and a sophisticated hydroponics system were discovered. Crime scene investigators attended and the items are in the process of being removed for further examination. A Merseyside Police spokesperson, said: “We take the cultivation of cannabis extremely seriously and urge anyone who may have seen, heard or smelt anything suspicious in the area to contact us. “Cannabis and its associated crime brings misery to our communities and we are determined to put those involved in cultivating cannabis and other elements of the drugs trade before the courts. “To do this we need the help of the public who may have vital information to call us, anonymously if preferred, so we can get these people and their drugs off our streets.” Anyone with information can call Merseyside Police on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

RSCPA prosecutes women for neglect

TWO women have been prosecuted by the RSPCA for neglect of two rottweilers. Audrey Halliday, 22, of Chester Avenue, Bootle pleaded guilty at Sefton Magistrates to causing unnecessary suffering to Mason, a male rottweiler, by failing to investigate the causes of its poor condition and weight loss which led to its death while in her care. Ruth Lee, 44, of Hereford Drive, Bootle pleaded guilty to failing to investigate the causes of the poor condition and weight loss of Sam, a female rottweiler, leading to its collapse and having to be put down. Mr Leeman, representing the pair, said there was a “lot of mitigation” due to the ill health of the women and that a pre-sentence report was required. The prosecution’s case and sentencing were adjourned until May 15.

Crime falls in Merseyside for the seventh year running

Report by Ollie Cowan

CRIME has fallen on Merseyside for the seventh year running according to recent statistics released by the Home Office.

The figures show a reduction in crime of 47.6 per cent since 2005, with a further reduction in reported crime of seven per cent.

There were also reductions in vehicle crime, criminal damage, drug offences, robbery and burglary.

Merseyside Assistant Chief Constable Andy Cooke, said: "I am pleased to see that last year there were 6,885 less offences committed in Merseyside when compared with the previous year.

"It is reassuring to see such consistent falls in crime over the last seven years despite the challenges we currently face through reductions in our budget and loss of police officers and support staff.

"It is particularly satisfying to see significant reductions in burglary (12.1%) and robbery offences (20.5%) when comparing this period to the year before and also the average reduction nationally.

"These offences have a significant effect on our communities, and to see a continued reduction is testimony to the hard work and dedication of the police officers and staff of Merseyside Police, working with our partners and community itself.

"We will not be complacent and will continue to do all that we can to ensure that the people of Merseyside continue to receive the excellent standard of policing that they deserve."

Police and Crime Commissioner Jane Kennedy, added: "Merseyside Police officers and staff should be extremely proud of the reductions in crime achieved during this period; they continue to perform their roles to an extremely high standard, even in the face of cuts by the coalition government.

"My focus moving forward is to ensure that all partners involved in community safety and crime reduction are working together and using the resources available to provide a coordinated and effective service that responds to the needs of the public."

Hair-raising challenge for soccer star Fellaini!

Report by
Holly Rummens

EVERTON player, Marouane Fellaini, is taking on his most hair-raising challenge yet – to raise thousands of pounds for Everton in the Community.

To celebrate the silver anniversary of the Blues official charity, Fellaini has promised to dye his famous 'fro silver – if Evertonians can reach a fundraising target of £25,000.

The Belgian international will put his iconic hair in the hands of award-winning celebrity colourist, Josh Wood, to help boost the charity's jubilee fundraising mission.

With only a couple of weeks to go until the end of the season, Fellaini is calling on supporters to back his charity challenge.

Marouane Fellaini said: "Our fans have already given thousands of pounds to support Everton in the Community but there's still a long way to go so I hope that my silver hair challenge will help to bring in lots more money and make a difference."

"I've never done anything like this before but I am happy to help this brilliant charity. It helps so many people and I want to help them too."

Every penny raised will go to Everton in the Community, which is celebrating its silver jubilee this year.

To mark the anniversary the charity

Marouane Fellaini – complete with his mop of silver hair is inviting all Evertonians to be part of an ambitious fundraising campaign to raise £1million.

They are asking 40,000 supporters, the capacity of Goodison Park, to raise just £25 each to help achieve a target of £1million, so that they can continue their life-changing work and reach out to even more vulnerable people across Merseyside.

To find out more about Everton in the Community, visit evertonfc.com/community.

To help Fellaini reach his fundraising target, visit justgiving.com/fellainifro or text FELI50 with the amount that you would like to donate to 70070, e.g. FELI50 £5 to 70070.

Woman driving with no lights on was over drink-drive limit

A drink-driver lost her licence after she was spotted driving in the middle of the night with no lights on.

Kristina Joy, 31, of Stanley Road, Bootle, pleaded guilty to drink-driving at Sefton Magistrates after breath tests revealed 43mg alcohol per 100ml breath (the legal limit is 35mg/100ml).

Brian O'Connor, prosecuting, said that officers followed Ms Joy down Linacre Lane at 2.25am on Tuesday, April 8.

They pulled her over outside Linacre Pub after the police computer showed that the vehicle was not insured.

"When speaking to her, the police officer noticed that she smelt of alcohol", he said.

She explained that the car was on temporary insurance cover and that she had drunk a couple of glasses of wine.

Her solicitor, Mr Tranter, said: "She is heartily ashamed and regrets her actions."

The magistrates fined her £300 and ordered her to pay £85 costs and a £30 victim surcharge. She was also disqualified from driving for 12 months with the option to reduce that if she completes a drink-driving awareness course.

Drive to clean up dog fouling

FOLLOWING a recent walkabout in the Liverpool area, local councillors identified a particular problem relating to dog fouling.

Council and housing association staff will join councillors in a drive to clean up the area in particularly Moss Lane and Orrell Lane.

Letters will be delivered to households to remind dog owners of their responsibilities and the potential penalties they face if they allow their dogs to foul.

A Poover, a machine that is used to vacuum dog dirt and disinfect the area will be used to ensure the roads are kept dirt free.

As well as clearing up the dog dirt there will also be a general litter pick.

"This is the first of a number of spring cleans in the ward," said local Councillor Ann O'Byrne.

"As well as cleaning up the neighbourhood we want to encourage local residents to show pride in their area."

"We are appealing, especially to dog owners, to make sure their pets do not foul these streets – there is a real problem with this and we are determined that it will be tackled."

Royal seal of approval for Sadie's garden

Duchess opens memorial to community champion

THE Duchess of Gloucester performs the official opening of Sadie's Sensory Garden.

Report by Holly Rummens

A SENSORY garden named in memory of a tireless community fundraiser has been given a royal seal of approval.

The Duchess of Gloucester visited All Saints Catholic Primary School in Bootle to perform the official opening ceremony for Sadie's Sensory Garden.

The garden, created at a cost of £30,000 thanks to a National Lottery grant and various donations and fundraising efforts, will serve as a permanent memorial to local woman, Sadie McMullen.

Bootle born and bred, Sadie died on April 11, 2008 and fittingly the sensory garden was officially unveiled on the fifth anniversary of her passing.

Father Gerry O'Shaughnessy, parish priest at St James' Church, Bootle, said: "Sadie worked in the civil service in Bootle but also for the parish of St James."

"She worked with young people, many of who were able to go on holiday and days out because of her generosity. She also made generous donations to the school and was always willing to help, often calling in for a chat."

During the second world war Sadie had worked with servicemen and women who were leaving the city for active service. She also lost her own fiancé in the war when his ship went down.

As well as the royal visitor, the opening of Sadie's Sensory Garden was attended by Sadie's family and friends amnd local dignitaries.

The Ynys Mon Express

WEDNESDAY 29TH MAY (DAY EXCURSION BY CHARTER TRAIN)

Via The North Wales Coast For Llandudno, Bangor & Holyhead Returning
Via The Conway Valley, Snowdonia & Blaenau Ffestiniog

Direct From: Southport, Burscough Bridge, Parbold, Wigan & Warrington

You can leave at Llandudno Junction (6 hour break) to explore the cobbled streets and Conway Castle or venture into the Victorian seaside resort of Llandudno. Alternatively take a break at Bangor (about 5 hours), an interesting and historical cathedral city, with a nearby castle and handy for Caernarfon and Eastern Anglesey. A final option of riding across the Menai Bridge and over Anglesey to Holyhead (4 hours stay) is on offer. At Holyhead we have an optional coach tour over Anglesey with break in the beautiful coastal resort of Beaumaris (priced at a supplement of £15 per person). Our return train traverses one of the most scenic lines in Wales, taking the 2 1/2 hour journey along the Conway Valley via Betws-y-Coed and Snowdonia plus the amazing slate mountains of Blaenau Ffestiniog.

TRAIN FARES: £49 STANDARD CLASS (£34 for child under 16) & £89 FIRST CLASS (all ages)

Chance to do your bit for charity

Volunteers wanted for street collection

If you've got a few hours to spare, organisers of a cancer charity would like to hear from you.

Beating Bowel Cancer is staging a street collection on Saturday, May 11 and is looking for volunteers to lend a hand.

Bowel cancer is the UK's second biggest cancer killer and more than 40,000 people across the country are diagnosed with the condition each year.

Proceeds of the collection, to be staged in Southport town centre from 10am to 4pm, will be used to help the charity to raise awareness of bowel cancer and to support sufferers and their families come to terms with the condition.

Beating Bowel Cancer's regional community fundraiser for the North West, Rachel Thomas, said: "We are looking for people to give up just a few hours of their day to help us make a real difference to bowel cancer patients and their families."

The charity will provide volunteers with charity T-shirts and collection buckets.

Anyone interested in helping out can call Rachel on 07825 910943 or email rachel.thomas@beatingbowelcancer.org.

For more information about Beating Bowel Cancer, including ways you can get involved in fundraising for the charity, visit www.beatingbowelcancer.org or call 08450 719 300.

Commuters could save money by using the train claim Merseytravel.

Commuters could halve their travel costs by using public transport more

Report by David Raven

THE rising cost of motoring means families in Crosby are spending more than twice the amount they need to on travel costs, according to a new study.

Merseytravel says the study, commissioned using official AA research, highlights the growing cost gap between cars and public transport and demonstrates that families could save thousands of pounds each year by changing their travel habits.

Commuters making a 13-mile daily round trip to Liverpool city centre in a small family car are said to be paying £1,390 each year, a figure which includes annual standing charges such as road tax and insurance, plus running costs like fuel, tyres and parking.

Making that same journey in a larger, more expensive car can take the cost up to £8,000 due to higher costs such as insurance, petrol and depreciation, Merseytravel claims. The comparative cost of an annual Trio pass covering return journeys from Crosby to Liverpool, is some way less at £734.

Merseytravel chairman Councillor Liam Robinson, said: "This study shows that a much smarter choice for commuters and their families' budgets is to leave their car at home where possible and travel by bus or rail using a season ticket, allowing them to travel around the region at a significantly lower cost."

Potential business prospects explored

MORE than 200 businesses attended the first Build Merseyside Construction Conference event at Aintree Racecourse, where possible business prospects were emphasized through the ERDF funded Mersey Business Support Project.

Delegates were informed about opportunities linked to the Liverpool 2 port expansion, the Atlantic Gateway and investment programmes by Registered Social Landlords.

Councillor Peter Dowd, leader of Sefton Council, said: "Despite the difficult economic conditions there remains opportunities and support available and our business support team continues to help local companies wherever possible."

"A workshop is planned later in the summer featuring major contractors and will be looking at issues including contacts on site and pricing."

To register for future events or for more information, call 0151 934 3452 or e-mail info@investsefton.com.

No longer just poorest who seek debt advice

Report by Jim Sharpe

IT'S no longer just the poorest and vulnerable who need debt advice but homeowners who cannot pay their mortgage according to a charity worker.

Lynda Cooper, runs the Christians Against Poverty (CAP) service for people in South Sefton and North Liverpool which gives advice on debt management and visits people to discuss possible arrangements for repayment.

The former Deyes High School pupil told Sefton Central MP Bill Esterson, at his surgery in Maghull, that she has seen a sharp increase in the number of people who have lost their job or seen their business collapse coming with debt problems.

"It used to be the poorest, most vulnerable people who asked for help," she said. "Now there is a new group who never asked for help before, including home owners who cannot pay the mortgage."

She said: "A typical situation for a family who need a Debt Relief Order is that they take out a payday loan, often for as little as £100."

"But because they can't, or don't, make a full repayment, within a few months that loan is worth £800 or more. So another aspect of the CAP's work is debt counselling. CAP can arrange debt relief orders – which enables most people to find a way of clearing debts – or in some cases, bankruptcy is considered."

The CAP speaks directly to banks and other creditors and take away some of the stress of managing debts which often cannot be paid without some kind of arrangement.

Iron Men to star in magic show!

CROSBY'S famous Iron Men are set to star in a new primetime magic and illusion show.

Antony Gormley's Sefton artwork was chosen by executives at Channel 4 for their new programme, Ben Earl: Trick Artist.

Crosby features in episode two of the four-part series, which airs on Friday, May 3. The show sees the Another Place installation taking centre stage in a 'stunning act of deception.'

Filming was facilitated by Sefton Council which works to promote the borough as a versatile location for film and photo shoots.

The trick was performed

Report by Ollie Cowan

on the Blundellsands stretch of the beach, whilst the production team based itself at Crosby Leisure Centre on Mariners Road.

Madeleine Knight, Channel 4's Entertainment Commissioning Editor, said: "Art is fundamentally important to Ben's work – it informs almost everything he does – so for Another Place to feature in the art episode was incredibly special to him and provided one of the stand out moments in the show."

Councillor Ian Moncur, Sefton Council's Cabinet Member for Children, Schools, Families and Leisure, said: "It's absolutely great that Sefton and Antony Gormley's Iron Men are once again featuring on national TV.

"The statues have really put Crosby beach on the map and are hugely popular with visitors, photographers and sometimes TV shows and documentary makers.

"As a council we work hard to support filming requests which often portray the natural beauty of the area, or highlight local attractions and destinations.

"Of course film crews may base themselves in the borough or employ local actors or support staff which contributes to the local economy."

Shops are clean but square is dirty

I am not an animal lover but I would never harm one.

So, the precinct owner of Maghull's Central Square thinks that the animal sanctuary collecting makes the square look tatty?

Take a look around, the square is dirty and not a bit an encouraging a place to shop.

The shops are clean and the staff are excellent but outside is dirty and untidy and there is chewing gum all over the place.

Take yourselves to Kirkby and Skelmersdale to see the spotless shopping precincts.

Even when Central Square is as clean as those, I cannot see why the charity should be moved.

Dock entrance ramp bridge would be safer for pedestrians

Re: your article about the fatal accident in Seaforth (Champion, April 24).

Councillor Cummins is wrong to support the outdated accident league table system of allocating funding to improve road safety.

Road safety should always be about prevention rather than cure.

The Seaforth Dock entrance has had no drop kerb on the west side for years now and many people, including the Dock Police, had voiced concern in the past.

With the Liverpool 2 dock expansion at one end and Liverpool Waters at the other, Sefton Council and Liverpool Council need to be working with Peel now to create a safe commuter route for pedestrians and cyclists as part of the redevelopment. Joining the coastal path at Waterloo with the Pierhead via Regents Road with a ramp bridge at the dock entrance is a proposal that has so far met with little interest from the councils – even though much of the route is already in place and with Peel's help it need not cost very much.

As it took Sefton five years to restore a ten-metre section of cycle lane dug up by utilities on the Formby By-pass, it could take more deaths at Seaforth and along Derby Road before they act.

Not for state to redefine marriage

Your report of marriage campaigners in Waterloo, reported David Cameron as saying: "I think we should be promoting marriage rather than looking at any other way of weakening it" (Champion, April 24).

To remove any confusion people may have about same sex marriage, the dictionary states that 'a traditional marriage takes place when a woman and a man in a loving relationship consummate their relationship in the time-honoured natural biological way.'

The Christian Bible describes it poetically by saying: 'They become one flesh' (Mt19:5).

The consummation of this union between man and woman usually leads to the next generation of children. This union is unique.

Naturalists from Darwin to Dawkins would agree.

It is not in the gift of church or state to redefine marriage.

The church or state is only there to witness the parties promise to be faithful and stay together for life.

We all experience a feeling of happiness when we see and man and woman in a loving relationship. This is the basis of all the great love songs and stories.

The government, in the name of equality, is proposing to set up a new institution which could be called 'New Model Marriage' or 'Civil Partnership.'

This new legal institution could be controlled by equality legislation.

This would give further legal rights to male-to-male and female-to-female unions.

Case for Scottish independence is nonsense since we are all mixed up together in the UK

Mr Erickson-Rohrer's recent letter in the Champion about next year's referendum in Scotland on the question of independence raises some important issues about who we are as a nation.

I believe that the case for Scottish independence is a nonsense simply because there were times in the UK's social history when the population of these islands moved to where the jobs were.

Consequently, large numbers of Scots and their descendants no longer live in Scotland, witness the host of Scottish family names you will find in any English telephone directory.

So, while England is currently home to 85% of the UK's population, that does not mean they are all English. For example, while I live in England, some of my ancestors are Scots and so I consider myself a Brit.

Moreover, if any Englishman dares to shake his family tree hard enough, a Celt of some description is likely to fall out.

So to suggest that the 8% of the UK population living in Scotland are the only Scots is an insult to Scottish fecundity!

With that said, it was the people in Scotland (Scots or not!) who voted to have this referendum and so it should be left to the voters in Scotland to debate the issue among themselves without interference, bullying or bribes from London. Certainly, it is difficult for me to imagine the Union without Scotland and it will be a very different Scotland without the Union.

But even if Scotland votes to leave the UK, the Union would logically still exist, as one community of people of different nationalities rather than a group of nations.

And the Union Flag would still fly, just as it did after Irish independence, testament to the fact that, whether Alex Salmond likes it or not, we English, Welsh, Irish and Scots, we British, are all mixed up together.

Greens utterly reject bio-fuels

I just don't know where your contributor Jim Sharpe (One Man and His Dog) gets some of his ideas from about the Green movement.

He is utterly and completely wrong in what he wrote in the Champion of March 27 about Greens and bio-fuels.

The whole Green movement utterly rejected bio-fuels from the outset for the very reasons that he gives but also because, just like petrol and diesel, they all produce CO2 when burned.

Yes, Mr Sharpe, global warming IS real! Electric power will eventually have to be generated by solar, wind or tidal generators and new research is heading towards making the batteries we now have obsolete.

Mr Sharpe should subscribe to Scientific American, New Scientist or similar publications to see just what is really going on in the fields of climatology and power generation.

RE Dawson, Southport.

Rewards for tenants

AN INNOVATIVE way of getting customer feedback has been unveiled by Adactus Housing Association.

The Adactus500 gives tenants and leaseholders the opportunity to take part in consultation activities that earn points which can be exchanged for a variety of rewards, from shopping vouchers to leisure activities or a credit on their rent account.

Residents can, if they prefer, convert their points into charitable donations.

Suzannah Robinson, resident involvement officer, said: "The Adactus500 has been trialled for two years and has proved an extremely successful way of getting feedback from our tenants.

"Membership was previously available to a random selection of tenants by invitation only and following a comprehensive review of the way we involve residents in shaping and improving our services, we have decided to open-up the Adactus500 to allow any tenant or leaseholder to take part."

Any Adactus tenant not subject to legal action can now register for the Adactus500.

Suzannah said: "By registering, tenants will have the opportunity to give us feedback on topics of their choosing to improve our services and help us formulate our plans for the future."

"The simplest and easiest way is to give feedback online and it's really easy to register."

• To register, tenants should go to the Adactus web site and log in using their surname and tenancy number at www.adactushousing.co.uk/adactus500

Health chief welcomes new boost to measles vaccination campaign

Report by Ollie Cowan

SEFTON Director of Public Health, Dr Janet Atherton, has welcomed the announcement of a national programme to increase MMR vaccination uptake in children and teenagers as a boost to the recently launched Sefton MMR campaign.

The national programme is in response to the large outbreak in south Wales and new figures which show that measles is at its highest level in 18 years.

In 2012, there was a large outbreak of measles across Merseyside with 71 Sefton children affected. This year, measles cases are continuing across the borough with 19 children confirmed already as having it.

Dr Janet Atherton said: "Measles is often believed to be a disease of the past, and people may be unaware that it is still around."

"It is dangerous and can have serious complications including pneumonia and encephalitis or swelling of the brain."

"In severe cases, measles can kill. It can also be very serious in pregnant women."

"Parents should ensure their children and teenagers are fully protected against measles, mumps and rubella with two doses of the MMR vaccine."

"Children get the first dose of MMR at 13 months old and the second dose is offered to children when they reach 3 years and 4 months."

"We recently launched a campaign in Sefton to protect the borough's children and young people from the ongoing measles outbreak. Children in primary schools who need an MMR jab have been invited by their GP to have their jab at the GP practice. School nurses are visiting secondary school to vaccinate children and teenagers who are not fully vaccinated."

An estimated 800 Sefton school-aged children have been vaccinated over the last month in the GP practices and schools. There are still many more children and young people who remain unvaccinated and my strong advice to parents is to take advantage of this opportunity to protect your children."

• To support the national programme, a new Facebook page has been launched www.facebook.com/getvaccinatedEngland in conjunction with NHS Choices.

MP supports CCTV campaign to help stop animal cruelty

Report by Henry James

BILL Esterson is supporting a campaign calling for all slaughterhouses to fit CCTV cameras.

The Sefton Central MP has put his name to a parliamentary motion calling for the introduction of compulsory CCTV in UK slaughterhouses as a means of increasing animal protection.

It is believed that the recent horsemeat scandal, together with revelations of slaughterhouse cruelty, has convinced politicians of the need for tighter regulation. A total of 117 MPs from across the political spectrum have signed the motion.

It states: 'That this House calls on the Government to bring forward legislative proposals for the mandatory installation of CCTV in UK slaughterhouses.'

It also expresses concern that eight slaughterhouses secretly filmed by Animal Aid had breached the law, believes that the introduction of compulsory CCTV will increase animal protection and lead to those caught breaking the law being prosecuted and praises supermarkets and the Food Standards Agency (FSA) for their support on the issue.

Animal Aid's call for mandatory CCTV stems from its undercover investigations inside nine UK slaughterhouses, which found welfare laws being broken in all but one.

In March 2012, two men were jailed for beating and burning pigs with cigarettes as a result of Animal Aid's footage.

Already, 10 leading UK supermarkets insist that their slaughterhouse suppliers have CCTV installed.

Kate Fowler, head of campaigns at Animal Aid, said: "CCTV is a valuable tool for those monitoring welfare and hygiene inside slaughterhouses, and we welcome the cross party support for this sensible and practical measure."

"Our investigations show that animals are regularly and deliberately kicked, beaten and abused inside abattoirs, and we believe that CCTV would deter some of the worst cruelty we filmed."

"Cameras would help train staff, enforce hygiene legislation and also provide better protection for workers, as there are too many serious and even fatal accidents inside UK slaughterhouses."

"The public has shown its support for CCTV and now, through this EDM, politicians are doing the same. It's up to the government to take action and tighten up the regulation of slaughterhouses."

Rail works ahead – early warning for passengers

PASSENGERS who use the West Coast Main Line rail service are being given early warning that work is due to take place on the line this summer that will affect people travelling between Wigan and Preston.

According to National Rail, the work will improve the reliability of the infrastructure and also the punctuality of services on what is Britain's busiest mixed-use railway line.

The £18m improvement scheme will be completed over nine days from Saturday, July 13 to Sunday, July 21 when four life-expired junctions will be replaced and three miles of track re-laid.

During the project, over an 18-mile stretch of line near Wigan, trains will be unable to use the Warrington to Preston section of the route.

Train operators will be making alternative arrangements to help passengers complete their journeys during the line closure.

Dyan Crowther, route managing director, said: "There is never a good time to carry out major work on such a busy route and after careful discussion with the train operators and industry partners, it became apparent that undertaking this vital investment in nine consecutive days in July would, overall, cause less disruption."

"Train services are quieter at this time and fewer people are expected to experience changes to their travel plans compared to the work being staggered over the next two years, impacting on dozens of weekends and Bank Holidays."

Hilda dies at 105

ONE of Sefton's oldest residents has passed away just months before her 106th birthday.

Hilda Bolland was originally from Bootle but spent her final years at the Good Companions care home in Southport.

Celebrating her 105th birthday in August last year, Hilda put her longevity down to not smoking and a nightly tot of whisky at bedtime.

She worked in Bon-Marche in Liverpool City Centre in the 1930s and lived through both world wars at her home in Springwell Road, which was bombed in World War Two but later re-built.

Her husband Eric passed away 21 years ago.

School beats the bullies with daffodil day

PRINCESS Diana anti-bullying ambassadors at Waterloo Primary School organised a Daffodil Day to spread their message this week.

Last year the school signed up to the national Princess Diana Anti-Bullying initiative and now 19 have been trained to deal with playground pests.

Pupils greeted parents and family members with daffodils, provided by Tesco, and a gift card of an anti-bullying pledge poem that they had written to mark the event and raise the profile of their work.

Parents praised both pupils and the school for identifying how to deal with bullying.

Past initiatives include a balloon launch to mark the start of their work and a Smile Day, a Compliments Day and a Say Something Great about a Mate Day.

Sarah Maciver, deputy headteacher, said: "Their role is to support children in their interaction and play at lunchtime and throughout the school day."

"They offer advice and support in setting up play opportunities and establishing friendships and where necessary, seeking adult assistance within the school."

"Our work of our ambassadors was acknowledged and highly praised by Alex Holmes, the programme manager."

Council Tax reminders sent out

Report by Ollie Cowan

REMINDERS are being sent out to residents who have yet to start paying their Council Tax bill for 2013/14.

This financial year has witnessed new Government changes to the Council Tax benefit scheme. The current Council Tax benefit scheme was abolished by the Government and all councils in the country had to replace it with their own local proposal called the Council Tax Reduction Scheme.

The new system started on April 1, and affected more than 17,000 working age residents in Sefton who receive Council Tax benefit.

Sefton Council has recently issued annual Council Tax bills for 2013/14 which gave all Council Tax payers the ability to pay in monthly instalments.

If residents are paying by direct debit they will be paying on an agreed date set between themselves and Sefton. However, if anyone has not opted to pay by direct debit and has not made a payment for April, it will now be overdue. Residents can still apply to pay by direct debit by contacting the council.

Councillor Peter Dowd, leader of Sefton Council, said: "An increased number of people now have to pay Council Tax as a result of the Government's changes to Council Tax benefit and the introduction of a local Council Tax Reduction Scheme."

"It is important that payments are made by the due date shown on your bill."

"Failure to make these payments impacts on the council's income."

Lions given highest award

Report by David Raven

CROSBY and District Lions Club have honoured lions Glen Alison and Tom Tyson with its highest award, the Melvin Jones Fellowship.

The fellowship, which was created in 1973, takes its name from the founder of Lions Clubs International, Melvin Jones.

The fellowship was established as Lions Clubs International Foundation's highest form of recognition to acknowledge an individual's dedication to humanitarian service.

It was presented at their 29th Charter Anniversary dinner recently held at the West Lancashire Golf Club.

As Lions, Glen and Tom have served the Crosby community for nearly 50 years between them. Glen is retired from lecturing at

Lion David Winsland, Penny Thompson, Andrew Thompson Smith, Lion president Lynne Winsland, district governor Lion Meg Philp, Lion Mike Code NA

Hugh Baird College and Tom is a retired policeman.

They have both been closely involved in all Lions fundraising and service activities within the community.

They received their badges and plaque from district governor Meg Philp.

Thompson Smith, on behalf of the RNLI, also received a donation from Crosby Lions.

Canal bike licence inspectors and 'parkies' kept us in order

NOW that it seems spring has finally sprung I have started to look around me perhaps rather more when walking Tina than perhaps I did in the seemingly unendingly dour days of winter.

For instance, I may be wrong, or it may be a purely local phenomenon, but it seems to me that there are an increased number of blackbirds about this year.

Now I know that our wild bird population is falling generally, but if I am right an increase in blackbirds is particularly pleasing.

Because birds were always an interest of my dad's – and his favourites were blackbirds and thrushes, followed by your, then at least, 'common' hedge sparrow.

This perceived increase in blackbird numbers is particularly noticeable on walks down the Leeds-Liverpool canal towpath where it runs along the rear of people's gardens.

Actually, talking of the canal towpath and my dad brings back memories of times past.

There are an again growing number of totally selfish idiots riding motorbikes of various sorts along the canal. But 50 years ago, I can't remember ever seeing a motorised bicycle on it.

Admittedly it wasn't fairly well paved through urban areas like it is now – it was just packed soil or mud depending on season – but it just didn't happen.

Mind you, back in those halcyon days you were supposed to buy a licence off the then British Waterways if you wanted to ride your push-bike along the canal.

And there really were inspectors whose job (I suspect among many others) was to check any cyclists they found to see if said licence was forthcoming.

I don't honestly know if anybody ever actually bought one, or what horror awaited you if you were caught without one.

Because as a boy it was imprinted on one's brain that you kept an eagle eye out for the inspector, or water bailiff or whatever he was really called, and retraced your steps quick-sticks if he was spotted.

And to my recollection this applied just as much to adults pedalling along the canal as it did to us kids.

These days of course the cycle licence for the canal is long defunct – or I suppose it is since there is no-one around to police it anyway.

Perhaps buried deep in some canal-side office in Burscough there are dusty piles of the things.

But the lack of any form of any supervision of the canal banks – apart from local already hard pressed local bobbies – reminds me of the park keepers of old as well.

I don't remember a 'parkie' as such in my local Maghull KGV park where I spent many a happy hour as a youngster.

But in the summer months at least there used to be a wooden shack in which lurked an attendant who gave out bowls and miniature golf equipment to those with the few pence needed to hire them.

He certainly kept an eagle eye on what everyone was up to in the park itself at the same time.

And on my weekend visits to Ormskirk to visit granny there was certainly an attendant in the park there to keep order.

Ah, happy days. Oddly you kept off the flower beds, you didn't smash glass around the place – and yet somehow it all felt more free.

Of course, in those pre 'elf 'n safety' days in Ormskirk at least there were those drinking fountains, often donated by local gentry, where at the press of an old metal button your could slake your thirst – for free.

We did too. And oddly lived to tell the tale.

Hospital praised by the nation's most senior nurse

Report by Holly Rummens

THE nation's most senior nurse has expressed how Liverpool's Heart and Chest Hospital is an excellent example of patient care.

Jane Cummings praised the achievements of staff at the hospital for the development of its Patient Vision scheme at a conference in Liverpool.

Ms Cummings, England's Chief Nursing Officer, said: "The work of everyone at Liverpool Heart and Chest Hospital in implementing their Patient Vision Experience during the past three years is a great example of best practice in today's NHS."

"The work of the hospital fits perfectly with Compassion in Practice – the three year vision and strategy for nursing, midwifery and care staff I launched at the end of last year."

The Chief Nursing Officer's speech to the first ever UK Conference on Patient and Family Centred Care highlighted that patient mortality rates are lower in hospitals "where staff have the opportunities to influence and contribute to improvements at work."

Three years ago, Liverpool Heart and Chest Hospital introduced its Patient Vision which insisted upon a standard by which all activities, clinical and non-clinical, are measured.

The vision is comprised of six steps to ensure patient expectations are met, these are Reputation, Arrival, Patient Contract, Stay, Treatment and After Stay, the hospital have given staff permission to challenge care if they feel it doesn't meet the hospital's standards. Both staff and patient experience have shown significant improvements as a result.

Amongst the six steps initially used to sustain patient care, the hospital also introduced many other successful initiatives where they hold events four times a year to gain feedback from families and patients.

Some of the feedback that was introduced included families being able to visit patients freely in the hospital's Critical Care Unit and allowing families and patients help design a new Day Unit and Inpatient ward.

Raj Jain, Chief Executive of Liverpool Heart and Chest Hospital, said: "As we say at LHCH, we are the visitors in our patients' lives, not their relatives. By ensuring that our patients and their loved ones are treated as partners in their healthcare journey, we will continue to provide them with the finest possible standards of care and continue to improve their individual outcomes."

The conference also heard from patients who had experienced first hand the hospital's Patient Vision in action.

Let 'Insulated Solutions' conservatory roof systems, bring an unloved conservatory into the very heart of your home.

The problem with many conservatories is that they can get too hot in summer and too cold in winter.

This is because standard polycarbonate roofing, have virtually no insulating properties. Glazed roof conservatories fare little better and even roof blinds make little difference.

That's why Insulated Solutions have developed a state of the art conservatory roof insulation system, which can be installed in just one day.

It's cost effective and causes minimal disruption it fits into the existing structure and to put your mind at rest, we also provide a 10 year guarantee for all our work and insulated panels including materials and installation.

The Insulated Solutions insulated panels are supported by the government, who by means of approval of our system have reduced vat at 20% to 5% that's a saving of 15% in recognition of the benefits in saving using our products on energy bills.

If you are experiencing any of these conservatory roof problems, Insulated Solutions conservatory roof systems is what you need.

Pupils win gold at swimming gala

Report by
Holly Rummens

CHILDREN from St Thomas Church of England Primary School in Lydiate were praised for their win in this year's annual swimming gala.

The event which took place on Friday, April 26 was represented by nine schools from Maghull and Crosby who were all competing to gain victory in both individual and team relay events.

It was a closely fought competition throughout the morning but St Thomas Church of England school's swimming team comprising of year 4, 5 and 6 children continued their fantastic year of sport by winning gold for the school.

This is the second time this year the school have come in first place in the pool, earlier in the year the team won the year 5 swimming event. However this is the first time the school have ever won the overall school competition in its history.

Assistant head teacher Mark Ward said: "This was a thrilling morning for all the schools involved and the children swam their hearts out in the races. The school are very proud of their achievement."

Adults take steps to improve their futures

Report by David Raven

UNEMPLOYED Sefton residents have recently taken steps to improve their futures by attending a training programme to become qualified sports coaches.

Active Sefton and Sefton@Work organised the 12 week programme which was accessed by 19 men and women from across Sefton aged 18-48.

A variety of coaching sessions including football and sailing meant participants were able to gain qualifications in a number of activities from first aid, to health and safety.

The programme was funded by Sefton Council and the European Social Fund which was set up to improve employment opportunities in the European Union and so help raise standards of living.

It aims to help people fulfil their potential by giving them better skills and better job prospects.

Heather Redhead, development manager for Active Sefton said: "It is amazing to see how these men and women have excelled in so many different ways in a short time.

"What is more profound is the confidence level I now see; they are working with each other, making comments and suggestions and are really rising to the occasion!"

After successfully achieving their qualifications on the programme, participants attended a graduation ceremony on Friday, April 19, where they were presented with their qualifications.

Jamie Carragher's 23 Foundation also supported the programme and donated a signed shirt won on the day by one of the participants.

Active Sefton are looking at future programmes in partnership with Sefton@work to assist unemployed residents achieve qualifications in a variety of areas. For further information, contact the team direct on 0151 934 4092 or email promotions@sefton.gov.uk.

No stopping

Stand-up comedy legend returned to resort with his tickling stick – and told Champion reporter David Raven why he loves Southport

HE MIGHT turn 86 later this year but there is no stopping stand up comedy legend Ken Dodd as he returns to Southport next week with a mind full of new gags and a heart full of happiness.

Even as a twentysomething journalist, it was a challenge to keep up with the lightening speed of his gags and the sheer intensity of his acerbic wit during our conversation.

He answered the phone with: "Hello David! So are you a Champion beer drinker or a Champion bird puller?!"

I laughed and tried – but failed to ask my first question.

"But before you start there's something you must know. There are two questions every single journalist always asks me in an interview, but I won't tell you what they are until you've finished."

Responding with a slight pause, before trying not to ask anything too obvious – I muttered something about Southport which was scribbled down on my notepad.

"I love Southport it's a great town – I've been going to Southport for a long long time, long before you were born and probably even before your father was born!"

"I've done the Little Theatre, lots of shows at the Floral Hall and I used to feature on Sunday afternoons at the Scala Cinema with Bill Gregson and his band as a guest artist."

"I've had some wonderful nights in Southport, the beauty of the place is it's central, so it brings people down from all around the country."

Ken Dodd on Southport's Lord Street.
Code1024268

He went on: "I remember due to some bizarre boundary changes, Southport decided they would build a new theatre, but unfortunately they forgot to build a dressing room!"

"So they put it on as an afterthought – it was just a row of little sheds glued on to the back of the theatre and they were so small that if you wanted to change your mind you had to go outside!"

Ken Dodd!

Ken Dodd throughout the ages

Code NA

"Then they built a brand new dressing room block under the direction of the wonderful Phil King, who was the Southport director of leisure and tourism – he still always comes to see me."

But it's the quality of the audience, not the theatre, that Mr Dodd cares about most.

"There's some beautiful theatres all around Britain – some lovely ones – some ugly ones, nevertheless they are all theatres, but they only become alive when there is an audience there."

"I play theatres up and down the country and I'm very lucky because I can be understood from Torquay to Glasgow and I play them all regularly, including Southport about three times a year – it's like a window cleaning round!"

Trying to keep the interview as topical as possible, perhaps naively, I brought up the recent death of ex-Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who he supported at the time of her election.

Diplomatically he added: "As an entertainer there are two things you leave to other people, one is politics and the other is religion – my job is to entertain, not to instruct or to educate, so it is very important that people go out laughing and happy."

Last year when Mr Dodd visited Southport, he managed to keep the audience chuckling until past midnight, when he drew his show to a close after over five hours of rib-tickling entertainment.

"Well, I do my best but I do not do long shows David, that's an ugly rumour – I just give good value for money!"

"I get what they call 'stagestruck' I just love it – I just love showbusiness and to me every show is like a party, it's a celebration of laughter and you don't want to go home early and be a party pooper!"

"I will still be playing at Southport in a few hundred years time – even if only in spirit!"

So to round up the interview, we returned to the two questions I had tried to avoid asking.

"The first one is usually about what I think of new comedians – one or two are very very good but there's always room for everybody."

"The second? Well they always follow that up with 'what is your favourite venue?' and I always reply – the one I'm playing at tonight!"

• Ken Dodd return to Southport Theatre on Saturday, May 4, from 7pm. For tickets call 08448713021 or visit the website www.atgtickets.com/southport

Bootle rack up 900 runs in bumper weekend

FIRWOOD Bootle enjoyed a bumper weekend which yielded excellent wins in two knockout competitions which between them produced in excess of 900 runs.

Saturday's Liverpool & District Competition Ray Digman Trophy match had Bootle batting first on winning the toss and benefiting from partnerships of 124 for the third wicket by Tom Carr (78) and Stephen Parry (62), followed later by 102 for the fifth between Will Purser (64) and Michael Gill (58). The innings closed at an imposing 322-7 after the 45 overs.

Northop Hall then slump to 43-6 after 19 overs in reply, already well adrift of the asking rate. Gareth Fox and Daren Peters then put together a brave stand of 51 but the Welsh visitors expired for 137 in the penultimate over of their reply to lose by 185 runs.

The following day Bramhall visited Wadham Road in the Kingfisher Beer National KO Cup.

Bootle made sedate start, reaching 52-2 by the 14th over. Michael Gill then took the bowling to task as he shared in partnerships of 125 with Craig Prince (70) for the third wicket and an unbroken 72 for the seventh with Chris Cunningham. Gill finished with a magnificent 124 not out in a total of 281-6.

Bramhall were soon behind the target of 6.27 runs per over to win had reached only 182-6 by close of play.

Bootle have three games this coming bank holiday weekend, as follows: at home to Leigh (ECB Premier League) Saturday 1pm; home to Freckleton (Lancashire Cup) Sunday 2pm; away to Prestatyn (Ray Digman Trophy) Monday 1pm

Controversial cup defeat for Northern

NORTHERN beat Wallasey by 67 runs in LDCC Knock-out Trophy on Saturday. Davy Smith (53) hit his first half century for the club, Ben Sloan top-scored with 56, and Mark Walling was unbeaten on 51, as Northern reached 208-6. Wallasey were bowled out for 141, with Paul Park taking 2-27 and Ben Sloan

2-10. On Sunday, Northern were controversially beaten in the ECB National Knock-out at Moor Park. Tom Bailey took 3-29 and Jack Boardman 2-38 as Westhoughton reached 187-8 in a game reduced to 36 overs per side. Stephen Lucas hit 74, James Cole 31 and Tom Bailey 21 in reply.

With four needed from the final ball Paul Park tried to despatch it for six, only to be caught by a disputed catch just within the boundary.

On Saturday, Northern entertain Southport in their opening league fixture, and travel to Old Xaverians on Monday in the Ray Digman Trophy.

Bucks' title ambitions suffer a blow

BOOTLE'S North West Counties League title ambitions virtually ended on Saturday when they were beaten 6-3 at home to Barnoldswick Town in their penultimate home game of the season.

The previous Tuesday night saw the biggest crowd of the season witness the top of the table clash with Padiham. Despite the Bucks going two goals down, Bootle fought back with aplomb to claim a much deserved draw.

Bootle are now in fourth place in the table, six points behind leaders Padiham with two games to play and a game in hand.

They host third-placed Winsford tomorrow night and travel to St Helens Town on Saturday.

News from the Brooke

Dear friends and local residents... Hello again from us here at The Brooke Hotel

The merry month of May sees some exciting changes to The Brooke. Due to popular demand we're expanding our entertainment and will now be having between 3 and 4 days of live music every week! On top of 2 months of successful Friday nights we will have entertainment every Saturday. Along with folk music on Thursdays we have a Residency for Pianist Robert Southworth, who will play Classical, pop and Jazz improvisation every Sunday from 6pm. So get yourself down to The Brooke and enjoy the talent at the fastest growing music venue in the area. You can now also follow us on Facebook by searching for 'Music at The Brooke Hotel' and giving the page a 'like'.

Listing for May are as follows:

- Fri 3rd - 44
- Sat 4th - TORAH TORAH
- Sun 5th - ROBERT SOUTHWORTH
- Fri 10th - RUMOURS
- Sat 11th - TRIBAL

- Thurs 30th - THE DOGHOUSE
- Fri 31st - SWINGOLOGY

The Best news of all is that we are very happy to announce the opening of the Beer garden. Over the next few weeks, work will be finished and you will be able to enjoy our authentic BBQ and mouth-watering Spit roast, along with Liverpool Organic Brewery Cask ales all available outside. Our specialist chefs are already on the premises and they will give you a unique tasting experience from the charcoal BBQ and Suckling piglet and spring lamb from the spit. If you're chatting with friends, having a day out with the family or even watching one of our many bowls teams, our garden is the place to be. With a little luck, we might even have some sunshine!

Full English breakfasts are available for £6 from 9am daily and our extensive International food menu is served from midday until 8pm with daily specials from our Chef. The Brooke is also available for functions. We can cater for all occasions so please contact us for details.

From all of us at The Brooke Hotel, take care and we hope to see you soon.

HELP TO BUY.

It's just one way Dorbcrest can help you buy.

Young professional buyers looking for a new home in Ormskirk could find they could soon be living at one of the most sought after addresses in the area with help from Dorbcrest Homes.

Selected homes at Cramford and Cramlington House are now available through the new Government-backed shared equity scheme 'Help to Buy' which was announced at the recent budget. Under the scheme purchasers only need a relatively small 5% deposit which could be as low as £9,125 and a mortgage of only 75%. The Government lend the remaining 20% as an equity loan which is repayable within 25 years or upon the sale of the home. This means you can buy from only £146,000 instead of £182,500 but still own 100% of the home from day one.

Adele Morley, Sales Manager explains:

"Since launching the scheme we've already had lots of interest from people who want to live at Ormskirk's most prestigious address but for some affordability is an issue, especially if it's their first home. As a local family company we're delighted to offer the Help to Buy scheme, which will give purchasers the opportunity to buy. But we have limited availability so those who want to take advantage should contact us without delay."

Cramford and Cramlington House are the last phase of this unique development. They bring together traditional architectural styling and contemporary apartment living, each having 15 individually designed properties with gated private parking and ease of access via a lift to all floors. Each home has a feeling of light and space which comes from open plan lounges with bay windows, while luxurious bathrooms and en-suites with fittings of the highest quality, such as Porcelanosa and Roca, echo the design detailing throughout.

The development is perfectly placed just a few minutes walk from the town centre with all its restaurants, bars and cafes. You're also within easy reach of the motorway network giving you access to Manchester, Liverpool and beyond.

For those who don't require the Help to Buy scheme, there are other ways Dorbcrest can help make buying a home easier and more affordable. Their experts will help you find the scheme that suits you best - and whatever your situation, even if you have a house to sell they will be able to find a way that suits you.

URGENT MEMO

BEDROOM TAX

Are you one of the 3600 families in Sefton or 10,000 in Liverpool
to be taxed on 1st April?

DON'T LET BEDROOM TAX CATCH YOU OUT!

CALL CONCENTRIC NOW!

BEDROOM TAX DOES NOT APPLY TO OUR PROPERTIES!

If you are unable to pay the shortfall to your housing costs from the 1st April
Concentric Lettings can help in two ways:

You can move to one of our high standard properties where we will ensure all the rent is paid!

Or you can let the spare rooms out in your house, we can find a tenant for you, do all the legal work and create a great income stream for you with no hassle which won't affect your benefits or be liable to tax!

*Some of our properties have NO deposit or
NO advance rent*

We specialise in lettings and housing benefit tenants with 8 trained advisors waiting to help you

Call Concentric Lettings on 0151 928 9280 and see if we can save you from the bedroom tax!

Play spoilt by political bias

Review by Ron Ellis

- Down Our Street
- Royal Court Theatre, Liverpool

ACTIVE Drama's production of Brian McCann's musical play, depicting the story of Birkenhead's Cammell Laird's shipyard, has been relaunched at the Royal Court.

The show starts in the 1800's with company founder William Laird setting out his dream of making Birkenhead a world centre of shipbuilding excellence and a vibrant community for its workers, noting the town's fine attributes like the Park (model for New York's Central Park), Argyle Theatre (model for London Palladium) and the fine Georgian buildings.

But the action takes place down the street of terraced houses, against the backdrop of a large screen cataloguing the passing years, showing the devastation of the war and the fluctuating fortunes of the yard with dubious political decisions affecting the business and the problems of falling orders bringing inevitable redundancies.

When orders start to drop off and the management explain that men have to be laid off when there are no ships to build, the workers bemoan the change to casual labour and the influx of Irish immigrants stealing their jobs, suggesting that the managers are lining their own pockets by paying lower wages to casual workers.

There was a left wing bias in the production that made the BBC seem almost Fascist and when Mrs Thatcher walked on stage in a cameo spot (along with Edward I, Charles Dickens and John Lennon), the audience shamefully booed, which said more about them than it did about Mrs Thatcher.

All the cast went about their varied roles with gusto and one can imagine the songs being sung in a dockside pub of a Saturday night.

Comedy legend, Micky Finn, looking more like Peter Lorre every year, invited laughs just by walking onstage; Benidorm's Crissy Rock, as a scally housewife, could screech for England; Billy Butler's wife, Lesley, and Lindzi Germain showed they had excellent singing voices; Roy Brandon, with a hangdog expression reminiscent of post-war comedian, Reg Dixon, has come far since his Bilbo Baggins days. But the stand out moment for me was Lynne Fitzgerald describing how she was invited to launch one of the ships. A comedy classic.

This new version has been lengthened by half an hour from the original script which was not the best move as, after the first 90 minutes, it started to become repetitive.

Star Rating: 5 out of 10. Spoilt by the political bias.

BBC Radio 5 live's Big Day Out to come to Liverpool

Report by Henry James

PRIMAL Scream, will perform live at BBC Radio 5 live's Big Day Out 2013 at Echo Arena.

The band will join hosts Colin Murray, Robbie Savage and Mark Chapman for the event on Saturday, June 1 for an evening of sporting wit, banter and comedy, all topped off with an exclusive live set featuring tracks from their new album More Light and extensive back catalogue.

The band said: "We have a busy summer lined-up, but it'll be great to be back in front of a Liverpool audience for this one off gig."

"We're all big football fans, so are looking forward to listening to the banter, before rounding off the night with a selection of songs from the new album 'More Light', along with some classic tracks."

BBC Radio 5 live's Big Day Out kicks-off at 5.30pm on Saturday, June 1, and will be broadcast live across the network.

Fans will be entertained with two of the radio station's iconic sports shows, Fighting Talk – hosted by Colin alongside a panel of favourites including John Rawling, Bob Mills and Justin Moorhouse – and 606 – presented by Robbie and Mark and featuring Jason Roberts and Darren Fletcher. Primal Scream will then take to the stage.

Anyone who purchases a ticket before 6pm this Saturday, May 4 will automatically be entered into a giveaway draw for tickets to an intimate Fighting Talk show, which will broadcast live from the Echo Arena on the morning of Saturday, June 1 (11am–12pm). PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

Never known to fail.
O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, faithful Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity, O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother, O Holy Mary Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succour me in my necessity.
(Make Request).
There are none that can withstand your powers. Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 Times).
Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).
Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. J.X.X.
This prayer must be said for three days and after that the request will be granted and the prayer must be published. 00000

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT, 1984, SECTION 14(1) AS AMENDED BY THE ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991

TEMPORARY CLOSURE OF KENDAL DRIVE / WINDERMERE DRIVE, MAGHULL

Sefton Metropolitan Borough Council, not less than seven days from the publication of this Notice, intend to make an Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act, 1984, as amended by the Road Traffic (Temporary Restrictions) Act 1991, to close Kendal Drive and Windermere Drive, Maghull to enable sewer repair works to be carried out. The proposed Order will continue in force for a maximum period of 21 days or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier. The works are due to commence on Monday 13th May, 2013 from 08.00 hours and are expected to take up to 10 days to complete. Access will be maintained for the Emergency Services and where possible for residents.

Alternative Route

The diversion route for all traffic will be via: Windermere Drive, Moss Lane, Dodds Lane, Northway service road, Kendal Drive and vice versa.

When it comes to classic car shows – there really is a North/South divide

Life on Cars by David Simister

THE other day my sister posted on Facebook a list of things that I – as a Sandgrounder now ensconced in Peterborough – might be missing about T’North.

Among the suggestions it offered up was coffee served in mugs rather than cups, chatting to chirpy Scousers on Merseyrail trains rather than sitting in silence on the London Underground, and quaint pubs in the Lake District serving dark ales named after poets and fell walkers. What I miss most of all, though, are our car events.

That’s why I found myself in Aintree last weekend, a village well known for its connections with horsepower and racing – yep, part of the old Grand Prix circuit was being used for a sprint event. It’s a surprisingly simple formula for motoring fun; just bring your wheels of choice to the start line, put your foot down, hold on for dear life and hope your engine doesn’t pack in.

Which, in the case of one Caterham which left a half-mile of blue smoke and a similarly sized oil slick down the final straight, it definitely didn’t!

The best bit, however, wasn’t watching everything from an E-Type to a Lotus Elise being nailed around the historic circuits corners and chicanes, but being able to wander around the paddocks and get up close to this mouthwatering machinery and have a bit of a chinwag with the owners.

There is something wonderfully egalitarian about the whole event, because it doesn’t matter whether you’ve brought half a million quid’s worth of classic racing machinery or a Renault 5 GT Turbo.

At Aintree, all that matters is getting the fastest time in your class.

The one thing that summed that up more than anything else was clocking a lightly abused Renaultsport Clio 182 parked up next to an Aston Martin DB6.

The two couldn’t be more different, but both of their owners were the epitome of loveliness and were there not to show off, but because they enjoyed putting their cars through their paces (and, without wanting to offend either, I bet their lap times weren’t dissimilar either).

So the smorgasbord of car shows across the region, which always get into their stride at this time of the year, is something I can add to my list of things I miss about The North.

Next week; gritty movies directed by Ken Loach, people who insist on lolly ices instead of ice lollies and Brian and Michael’s Matchstalk Men and Matchstalk Cats and Dogs. Only joking!

New Renault Captur hopes to be a Brit hit

RENAULT is hoping Brit motorists are ready to Captur its latest model when it arrives in showrooms across the country this summer.

Closely based on the latest version of the Clio, the Captur is hoping to tempt buyers by offering them a blend of Gallic style, practicality and keen pricing, with the cheapest versions starting at £12,495.

It's the latest contender in the supermini-meets-off-roader market dominated by Nissan's Juke and MINI's Countryman, with Fiat's 500L and Peugeot's 2008 also arriving later this year.

A spokesperson for the French firm said: "Renault's new entrant combines the best of three worlds: the style and driving position of an SUV, the cabin space and versatility of an MPV and the driving experience of a compact hatchback.

"Aiming to have quite an impact, and not just with its looks, the new comer is both attractively priced versus the competition, not to mention very well equipped right from the entry trim level."

The Captur, which is available to order now, will arrive in Renault's UK showrooms at the beginning of July.

Let down by missed chances

Grantham Town 1
Marine 0

MARINE should have gleaned some return from the match, but were again let down by missing some excellent chances.

Town came close to opening the scoring early on, a free kick from coming off a Marine head and back in to play via the bar, centre forward Greg Smith pouncing on the rebound but seeing his shot smack against the post.

Town had the wind at their backs in the second half and forced a number of corners early on, and John Shaw had to clear a close range header off the line.

Grantham took the lead on 69 minutes, a quick move leading to a lofted cross into the area with Lewis heading in.

Marine finished strongly, Jon Goulding having their best chance but his header hit the bar from Michael Ordish's free kick.

It is the right time to go: Lynch

Kevin Lynch has stepped down

Report by David Raven

MARINE are looking for a new manager after Kevin Lynch stepped down this week.

The 38-year-old, who saw a consistent level of success at the Arriva Stadium including a memorable FA Cup run, handed in his notice at a meeting on Sunday with chairman Paul Leary.

His last game in charge of the Mariners will be the final league game this coming Saturday away at Ilkeston Town.

Marine manager Kevin Lynch said: "This is a real sad day for me but I feel it's the right time for me and the club to call it a day."

Marine look for new manager

Marine is such a fantastic club and will always remain close to my heart.

"The four years have been a great learning curve and an excellent grounding for me to learn as a manager and I am so grateful for the opportunity Marine gave me."

"Paul Leary has been like a father figure to me and will forever be a special friend of mine, as well as the people on the committee at Marine."

Marine are now looking to recruit a new qualified manager with the experience.

Marine chairman Paul Leary said: "It was a sad day for me following the joint decision by Kevin and I to part ways after our final game of the season on Saturday."

"I enjoyed working with him over the last four seasons but in the end we both have to consider the best thing to do and our parting is completely amicable."

"I thank Kevin for the work he has put in at Marine in the last four seasons."

"He has a real desire to succeed as a football manager and I wish him well for the future."

Reserve team to be scrapped to focus on youth

MARINE have scrapped its reserve team that has been running for over 100 years in order to focus on youth development up to the Under 18s age group.

From this coming season the Marine Youth team, members of the North West Youth Alliance, will play its Sunday home league games at the Arriva stadium.

Marine chairman Paul

Leary said: "This has been a very difficult decision for our football club that has run a reserve team for over 100 years."

"However, priority is now placed on the development of our younger players and the playing of our youth team fixtures at the Arriva Stadium will enable us to pay more time in monitoring their progress."
